

What counts as “fully vaccinated” now?

July 2022

The Government of Canada is updating its definition of “fully vaccinated”. Soon, you will need 3 doses to be considered “fully vaccinated” instead of 2 - but it is also important to keep track of how recent your last vaccination was.

You should always follow public health guidelines - as the virus evolves, it is possible Canadians will need more regular boosters.

Why?

Because the effectiveness of vaccines fades with time. Boosters are needed to ensure maximum protection against severe disease and death.
